

Did You Know?

Series of information/visual awareness posters, designed with strong visual material to help inform consumers of the ingredients in every day products.

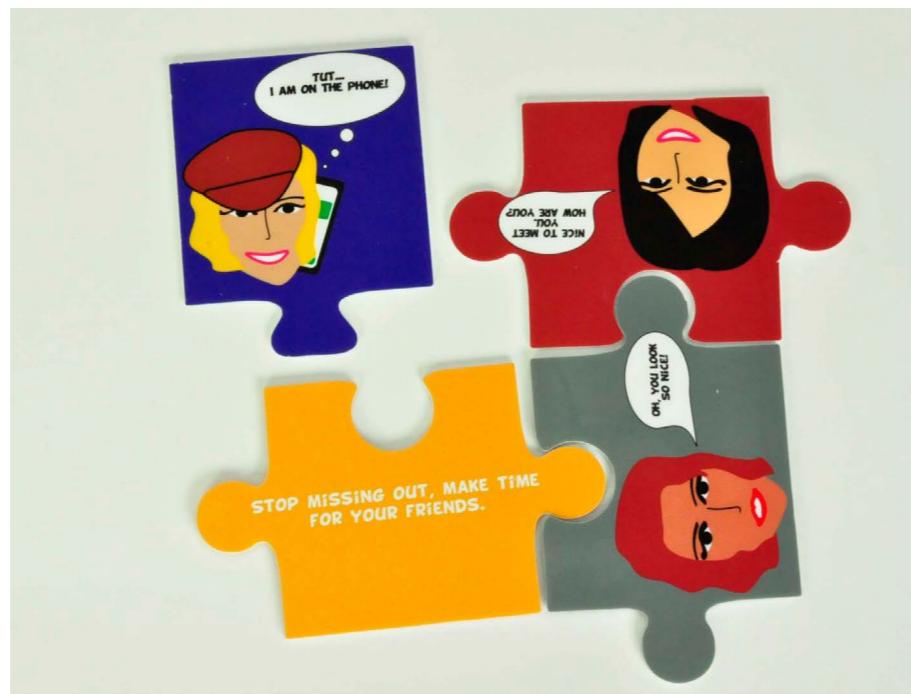

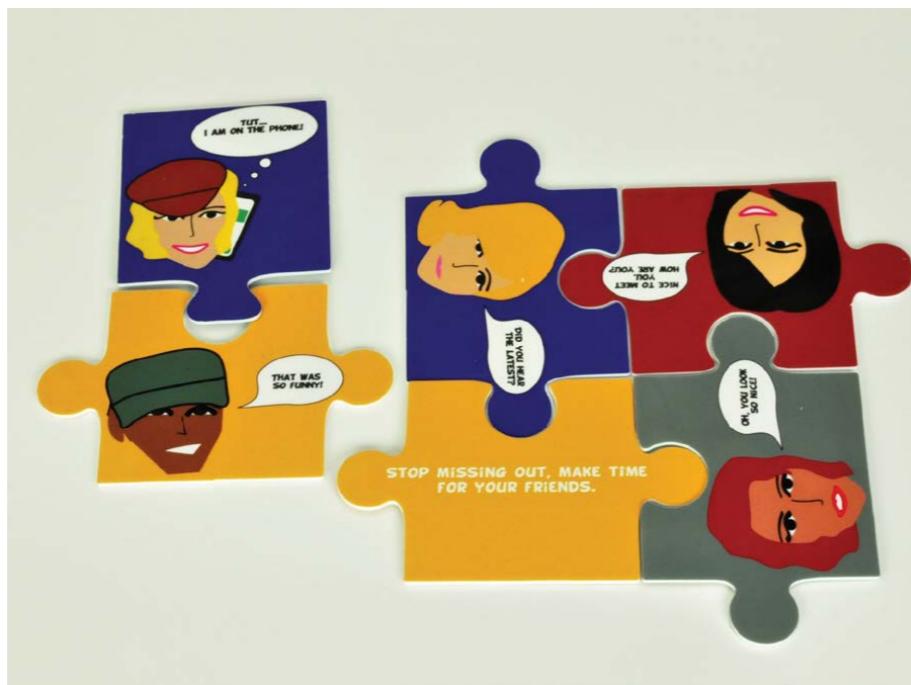

Homophobic bullying at School/University

An awareness campaign for Schools/Universities, to help teachers, Victims and bullies understand the criminal implications of Homophobic bullying.

Tongue and Cheek

Body Shop brief: To design four posters each representing one of four different products, and create a separate campaign poster. The quirky approach was intended to attract a younger market.

Stop missing out, make time for your friends

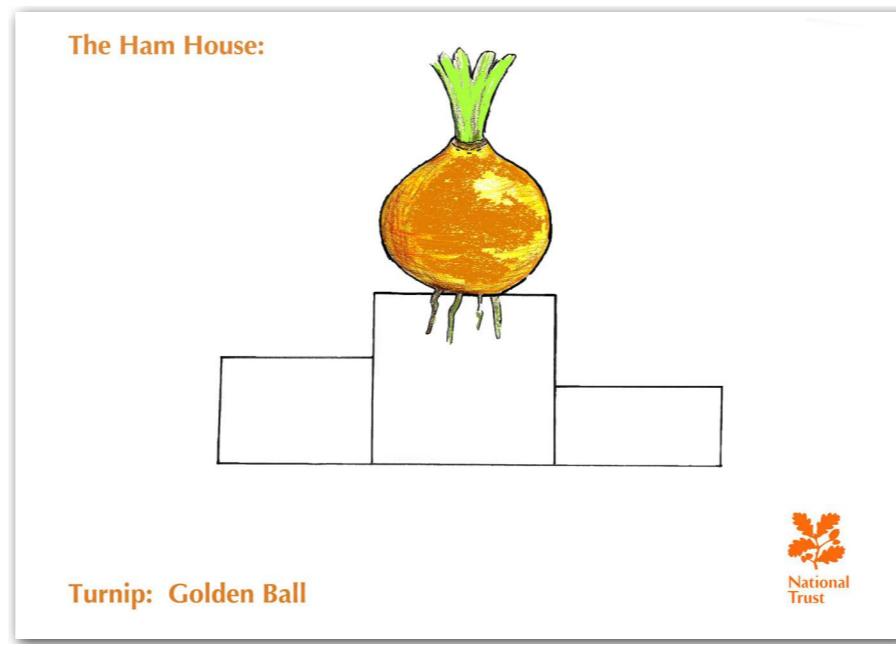

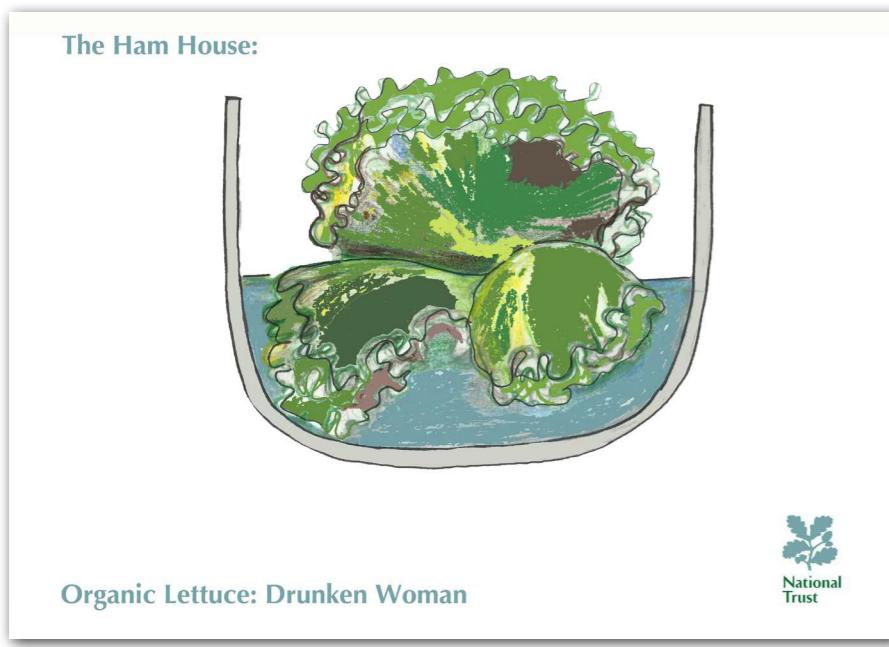

Beer mat jigsaw puzzle, to be used in public houses, cafes and restaurants
(UV Print on acrylic).

I created these characters to help encourage people not to use their phones when out with friends. The mats with characters speaking on the phone do not fit with the other mats, where the characters are socialising.

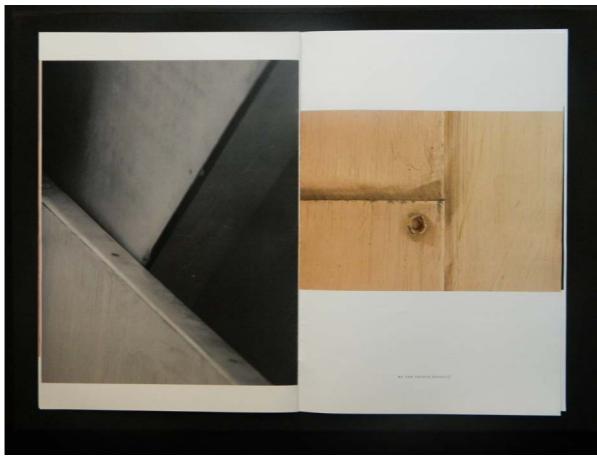

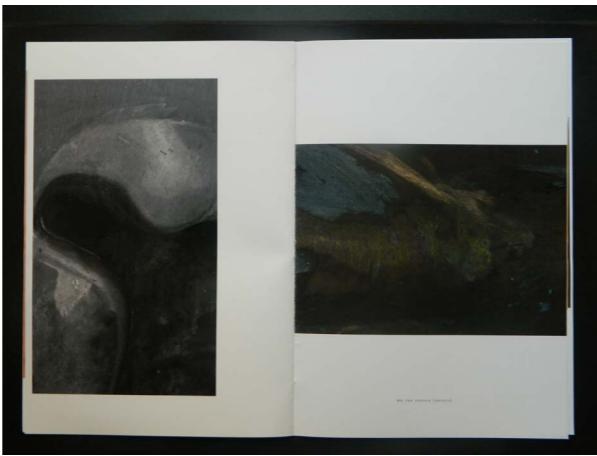

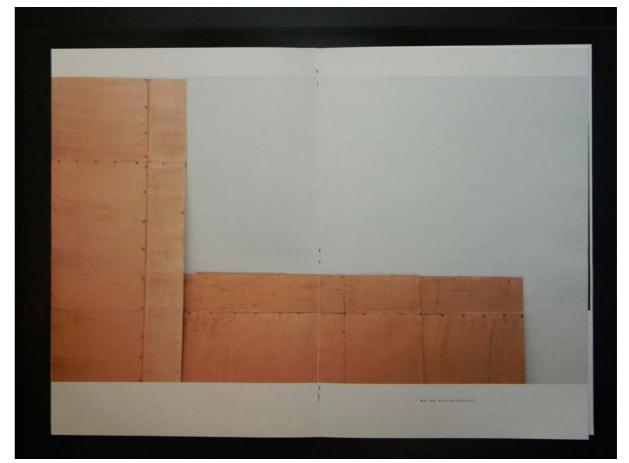

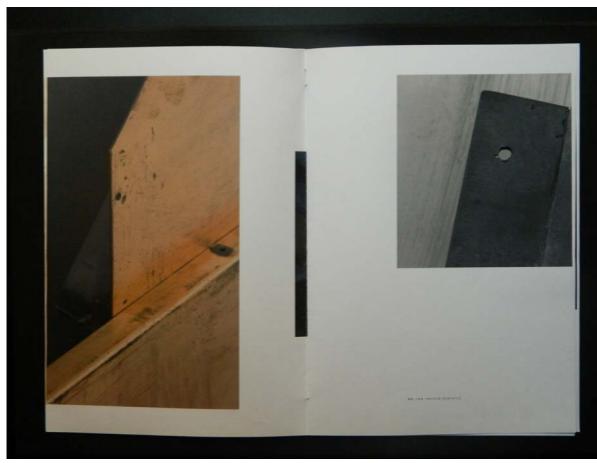

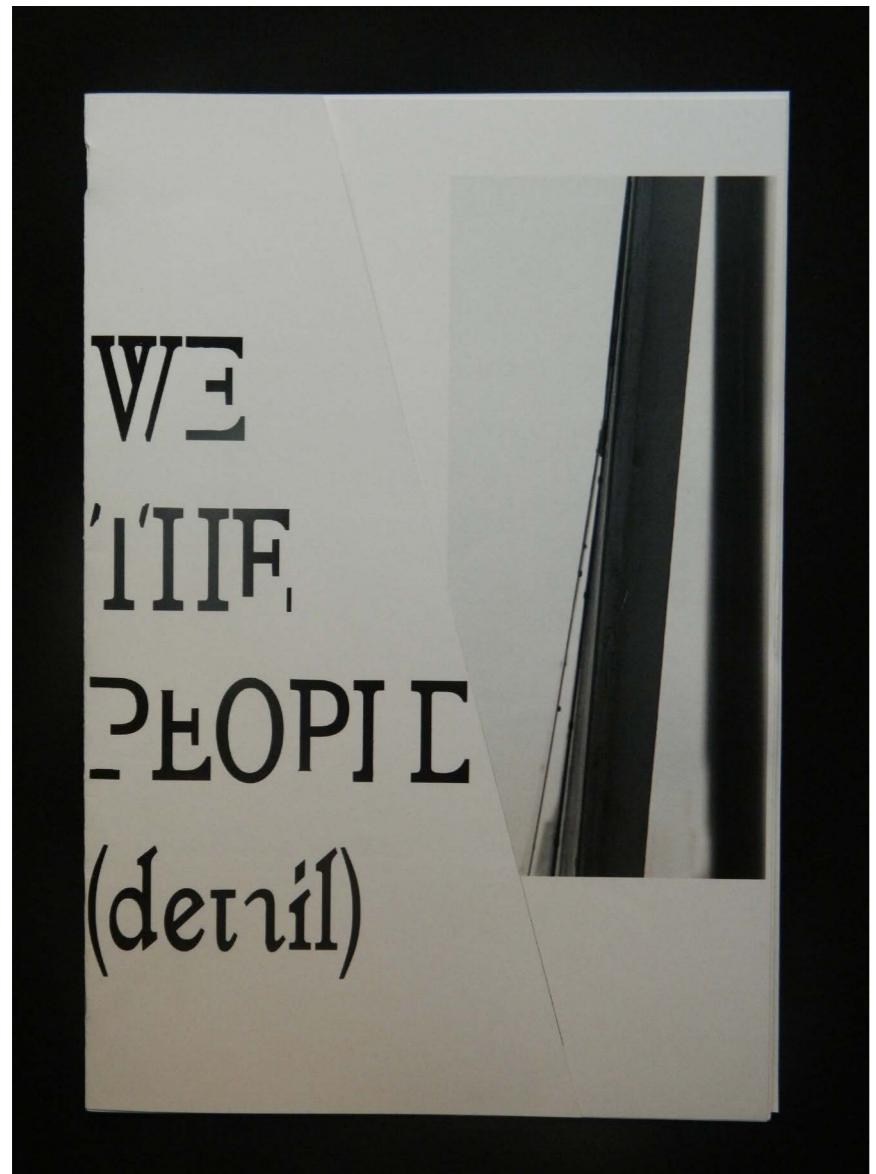

Think Again

Awareness posters on the misconception of rape and the effects of drink spiking. Designed it by using shocking pictures for people to be more understanding.

Ham House

Brief: To design a series of posters for The Ham House kitchen garden, promoting their own grown organic vegetables. I created these posters with fun, illustrations depicting the names of the vegetables.

We The People

Large format exhibition catalogue promoting Dan Vo's on going sculpture installation. The finished work is going to be a replica of the Statue of Liberty.

Creating the perfect newspaper

Who and what processes, are involved in creating your perfect daily paper? 'Press Undressed' is an 8 page special edition newspaper. I created this, following extensive research, to give the reader a sneaky insight behind the scenes of the press world.

The types of newspaper formats and their meanings

The Broadsheet Newspaper The dimension is 750 x 600 mm

Berliner Newspaper The dimensions are : 470 x 315 mm

Tabloid Newspaper The dimensions are: 430 x 280 mm

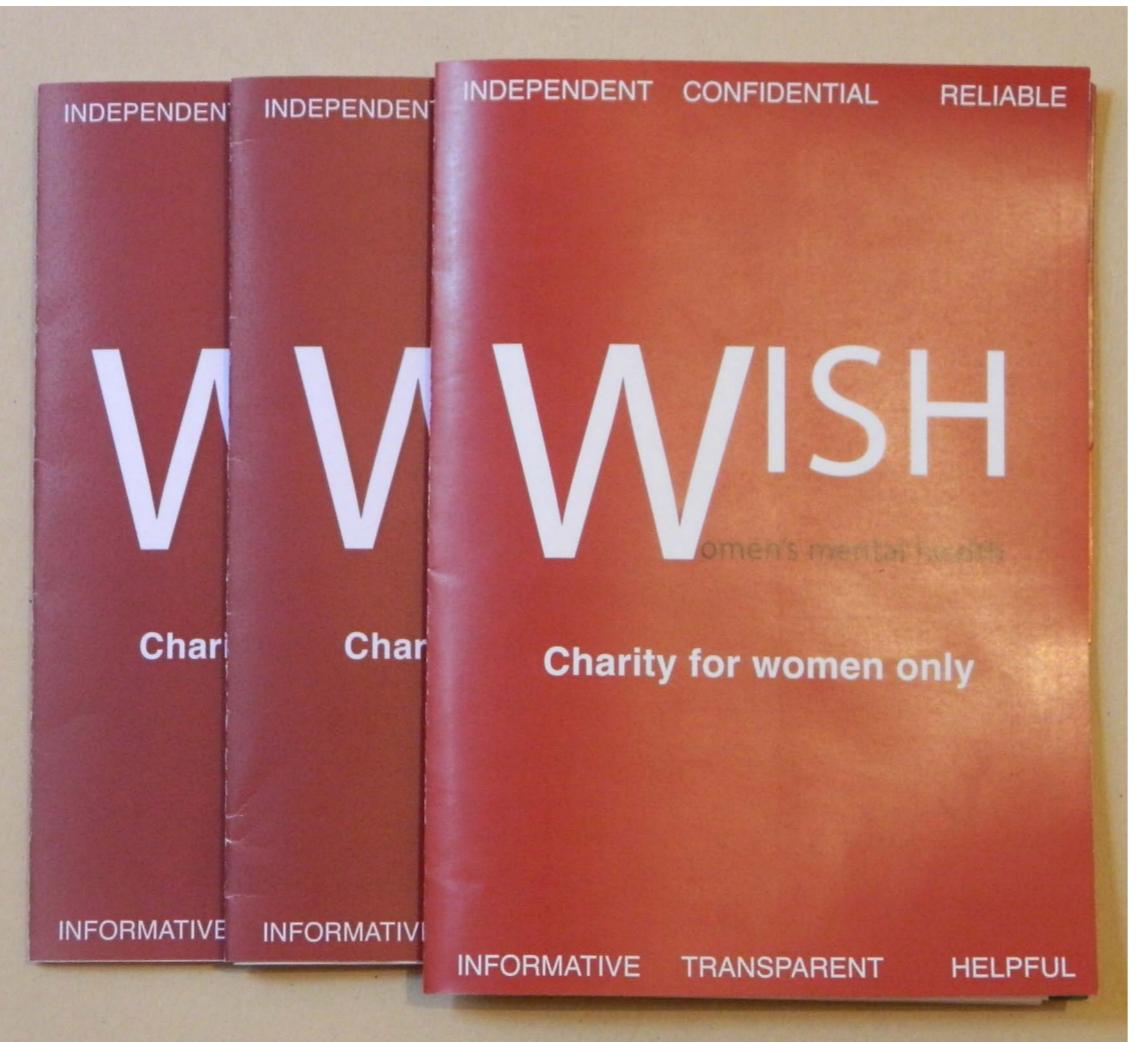

Tabloid The word tabloid when referring to news media size refers to the style of journalism known as 'tabloid journalism' that compacts stories into a small size which has decided to take a tabloid size, have instead called the format 'compact'.	Berliner The Berliner format also known as 'Berliner' was first used by newspapers across Europe.	Broadsheet The term Broadsheet came from the large amount of political satire on ballads sold on the street. These became popular in the 1700s when French placed a tax on the number of pages in a newspaper in 1712.

Wish Charity for women

Rebranding of logo design and pamphlet design.
Originally information was on five separate leaflets.
The new colour coded information pamphlet has all the Information in one. It is user friendly, and easier to maintain stock and wastage.

About Wish Charity

Wish was founded in 1987, is the only national mental health charity in the UK working solely with and for women. We are a user-led organisation providing independent advocacy and support to women in secure hospitals, prisons and the community. Wish acts to increase women's participation in the services they receive at all stage of their journey through the mental system.

Wish campaigns to influence the development and delivery of gender specific services at a local and national level.

We are trusted by women and service providers alike, with feedback from both users and professionals emphasising the transformative impact of a woman-centred approach.

THREE Services for women :

- Gender Specific Advocacy
- Community Link Project
- V.A.S.T (Voices. Actions. Solutions. Together)

Our Aims

- To empower women before, during and after their stay in a secure setting to achieve a self defined improvement in their quality life
- To influence the development and delivery of gender specific services for women to address diversity of need
- To work with staff and managers in secure services to improve the quality of women daily lives and reduce their isolation
- To influence reform of mental health provision and the criminal justice system through specific campaigning

We Promise to ...

- Provide consistent, non-judgemental support and services
- Treat you as an individual, with unique needs
- Support you to make your voice heard at all levels and at all times
- Work with staff in your unit to improve the quality of your care and treatment

Gender Specific Advocacy

What is it?
Two decades of working specifically with women has shown that generic advocacy does not meet women's needs.

Our Gender Specific Advocacy ensures that all treatment, care and personal issues are addressed appropriately and sensitively. It is designed to engage women who do not feel they have a voice, or find it difficult to assert their needs and views.

Our advocates spend time building trusting relationships with women. The advocate's involvement is directed by each woman, with the ultimate aim of equipping them to self-advocate.

How does it work?
We come and visit you in person and take time to build a trusting relationship with you as an individual.

We listen to your concerns, then work together to look at your options and explore possible solutions.

We support you to make informed decisions and get your voice heard.

We speak on your behalf if necessary, and work with staff in your unit to improve the quality of your treatment and care.

What an advocate does?
Unhappy with any aspect of your treatment and care, but do not feel you have a voice, we can support you to get your opinion heard.

Listen and talk through issues with you privately

Help you find information and solutions

Empower you to express your needs and views yourself to support you.

What can IMHAS do?

IMHA Advocates can:

- Visit and interview any person involved in your care and treatment
- View your health and social care records (as long as you have given consent where possible; the person holding those records agrees it is appropriate and necessary; and it doesn't conflict with provisions of the Mental Capacity Act 2005.)
- The IMHA can only use their "IMHA Powers" when carrying out IMHA duties, so where they are doing "ordinary" advocacy ie issues not covered by IMHA, they cannot make people meet with or necessarily view records etc.

Is all Advocacy called IMHA?

No, an IMHA can help you with certain things, but not everything. Most non-MHA advocates will support people with a wider range of issues

For example:
Your Wish advocate can help you with issues around contact with children or accommodation. These types of issues are not covered by the role of IMHA.

Our To become a member?

You can become a member by filling out the Wish Membership Form and returning it to a Wish worker or sending it into the office.

To individuals

Community Link Project

What is it?
The Community Link project helps make the move from hospital or prison into the community as smooth and supportive as possible. Wish is there to provide information, practical and emotional support, and a link into community activities and opportunities.

Information
On useful organisations and support groups, education, training and employment, and sources of financial assistance.

Support
Through regular visits before and after leaving hospital or prison to give intensive support. There is a weekly drop-in at the Wish office in London, where women can come to socialise and get peer support, as well as advice and information from Wish workers. Some women may also be offered a befriender.

Liaison and advocacy with the care team
Support to ensure women are able to voice their opinions and views in meetings with their care teams.

The Next Step
We can introduce women to valuable opportunities through our links with volunteering, work and community projects. Volunteering gives women the chance to learn new skills, gain confidence, and develop their CV.

How can the project help me?

- If I have started a course at my local college
- If with Wish's support I reduced my self-harming
- If I've taken up some paid work with Wish
- If I feel confident travelling by myself on public transport

Do I qualify for the project?

Talk to a Wish worker at your unit or prison, or contact the Wish office directly. Someone from the project will come and see you to discuss your plans for the future. If we agree that Community Link is for you, you'll become a member of the project and we'll plan what will be most helpful to you.

The Feel Good drink

To redesign the labels of the smaller bottled juices and sparkling water drinks, of the 'feel good' drink company. I used a cheeky, fun design approach to attract a younger market.

H.A.R.T

Personnal project: I designed the H.A.R.T bracelet/watch to help people relieve stress. By using an ancient three hundred-year-old Chinese acupressure point PH6, a disc located at the wrist point, sends magnetic pressure to help lower the heart rate back to normal within two minutes. The product was designed with the help of medical experts and engineering specialists. The band comes in a variety of colours and styles. I also designed the poster and app for the product.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE DUKE AND DUCHESS
ON THE BIRTH OF PRINCESS CHARLOTTE ELIZABETH DIANA

CHEWTON GLEN HAMPSHIRE

On this very joyous occasion everyone at Chewton Glen would like to congratulate Will's and Kate on the birth of the new Princess.

Want to learn more about the Royal family?

Treat yourself to a Royal Photography exhibition and sumptuous lunch, whilst listening to stories and secrets of Queens, Kings, Princes and Princesses from Victorian times to now.

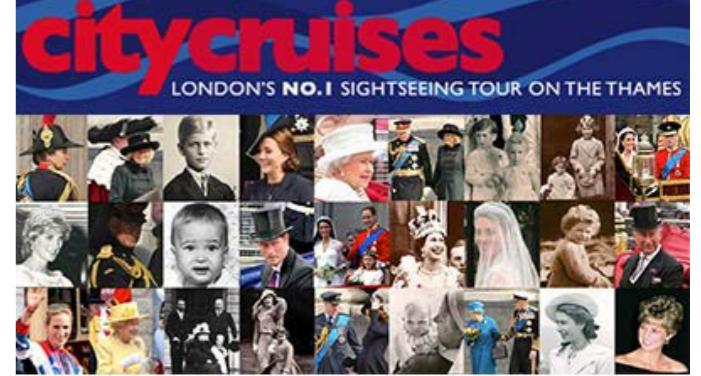

Join Royal Photographers Ian Pelham-Turner and Helena Chard on Saturday 16th May 2015 at Chewton Glen to learn more about their careers, capturing memories of the Royal family...

Pelham-Turner and Chard are two of the most experienced Royal experts on television today. The Royal experts talk about their personal experience working with as well as portraying four generations of the Royals as commissioned photographers. Ian captured the first Christmas images of baby Prince William and the couple photographed extensive images during the Royal wedding and the recent birth.

To book your place or to find out more please call Reservations on 01425 282212 or email reservations@chewtonglen.com.

The Facebook page for Royally Rich Company features a grid of 25 small photographs of various royal figures through history. Below the grid is a white sidebar with the company logo (two interlocking 'R's) and the text 'ROYALLY RICH'. At the bottom of the sidebar are five navigation links: 'Timeline', 'About', 'Photos', 'Likes', and 'Videos'. To the right of the sidebar are social media interaction buttons: 'Like', 'Follow', 'Message', and three dots.

Enjoy a sumptuous Royal afternoon tea, sail down a Royal history packed Thames in style and listen to the history of Royal children whilst also viewing rare photographs of Royals through the ages.

Commissioned Royal Photographers and TV Commentators Ian Pelham - Turner and Helena Chard bring to life over 150 years of history of Royal children, sharing personal memories working with five generations of the Royal family and their own background stories behind the latest birth of Princess Charlotte.

Royally Rich Afternoon Tea will sail from Tower Pier on most Mondays and Tuesdays in May and June.
